Height of the different varieties may vary slightly either way, depending on richness of soil, moisture and length of the growing season. Description is based on average growing conditions.

Substitutions

We positively will not make substitutions in your order without your permission. Many of our customers save time and correspondence by designating a second choice at the time they order. We will not send second choice varieties as long as we have stock to fill your first choice selections.

Canna Culture

Cannas make beautiful flowers that bloom the entire summer and fall. Plant the tubers in well prepared soil, four or five inches deep and 18 inches apart in early spring. After frost, cover canna beds with straw or dig bulbs and store inside.

When storing inside, remove stalks, do not break clumps apart. Leave soil attached. Separate in spring at planting time.
